

Welcome to Members' Regulatory Day 2023

Update on global regulations for sustainable and safe food production

We're looking forward to welcoming you to Leatherhead's Regulatory Day on 20 September at our main office in Epsom! If you haven't had chance to visit us in Epsom before or attend one of our previous members-only days, we do hope that you enjoy spending time in our fabulous home.

We hope that the programme we've put together is informative and the networking sessions provide opportunities for you to meet with us and your industry peers. The programme has been designed to provide a global overview, covering the recently established regulations in the UK as well as regulatory developments across the EU and in various international markets. In addition to these presentations, we will be holding a discussion forum to share our thoughts on the regulatory challenges that we have been facing post-Brexit.

Environmental sustainability has never been so important and continues to be of priority within the global food & beverage industry. Every single point of the supply chain from farm to fork is being scrutinised and increasingly being subject to regulations. An awareness of these evolving activities is crucial to any company's growth and success. To explore this theme, we will also hold a discussion forum on the labelling regulatory challenges that industry faces in the drive to support environmental sustainability.

Whilst we will be sharing our expert opinions and views on the day, we also aim to capture the key discussion points within our 2023 Annual Regulatory Trends Report, which will be released shortly. Please let us know if you wish to have a dedicated presentation to you and your team, in which will provide an overview of the report; one of our Account Managers will be in touch to arrange a meeting.

Wireless internet is available in the conference area, and we will provide details on the day. Feel free to tweet during the day using @leatherheadfood and #leatherheadmembers

Have a great day and please don't hesitate to ask one of the Leatherhead team if you have any questions about the event, your membership or any of our other services.

Yours sincerely

Chris Landeg
Commercial Director
